BEECHER AND HIS CONGREGATION.

From the N. Y. Squ.3 The more these gentlemen talk over the matter, the better satisfied do they become with the mooted proposition of disciplining Mr. BEBUIER for his 'apostacy.' They are aware that Mr. BEBUIER'S political course of ction is no concern of theirs, nevertheless they claim to possess a proprietary right in Plymouth Church, which will be injuriously affected if the conservative views of Mr. BEECHER are not repudiated. An informal eret caucus will no doubt be called, to be ollowed by an interview with Mr. BESCHER. This being unsatisfactory, doubtless a general convention will be ordered, in which a low of hands will be demanded. Thereupon the affair will assume a tangible shape. ortunately for all concerned, Mr. BERCHER cupies a position which renders him perfeetly indifferent to the political opinions of his congregation. While he would not be willing to interrupt the pleasant relations existing between himself and his people, he gould not allow them to interfere with his personal liberty of speech or action. The ngregation appreciate the value of Mr. BENCHER as a pastor, and esteem him eyond all other men as a teacher; neverheless, they may desire to act independently

For the purpose of bringing the matter into a shape which will enable both parties to express their views, it is suggested that a gard to protection, the speaker illustrated by saying that if some person in the county to express their views, it is suggested that a side issue be raised on the question of Mr. Berners's compensation for his services next year—the Radicals to vote for a reduction, "cutting off the supplies," if they are strong enough to do it. If the Canservatives are found in the majority, the matter will be settled by the withdrawal of the defeated Radicals. Mr. Berners might not object to such a solution of the difficulty-No political question would be raised in the church, and outside scandal avoided. In No political question would be raised in the church, and outside scandal avoided. In case the Radicals succeeded, Mr. BERDETERN might withdraw, leaving behind him the great organ and a congregation wealthy enough to secure the services of some preach, er sufficiently popular to command a full and exclusioned: "Now, gentlemen, what do house. Commonwealth, After hearing the argument, which lasted about three hours, Judge Lyons said that a military commission had no right to try citizens after civil law had been restored, if, indeed, they had before. He would, therefore, make this order, that the prisoner be released from confinement in the penitentiary, and that he be taken before the Mayor of this city, who would, if he thought proper, send him to Elizabeth City county for trial. Mr. BRITTINGHAM was taken in custody by Deputy Sergeant ANDERSON, and taken before the Mayor. The Mayor read the record of his case, as stated by the military commission before which he had been tried and then bailed him in the sum of $500 to > prosperity. THE TARIFF GOUGE.

At Connerwille, Ind., Mr. HENDRICKS, the talented United States Senator, addressed a large meeting of the Democracy, in his speech, which was a general review of the policy of Radicalism in Congress, present-ing this view of the tariff:

The House of Representatives passed : bill which is now pending in the Senate, and which, I suppose, will be passed at the next ession, designed to increase the revenue from duties on imports. What do they want to increase the tariff for? Do you believe they want more revenue? That is a mere sham. There is no occasion to increase the revenue. As it now stands the gold and silver revenue is about one hundred and seventy millions. But the tariff now brings in a great deal more gold and silver than the cretary needs to meet the demand upon nim for specie; and from time to time he has to sold gold in New York. Then they don't want to increase the revenue.

The purpose was to put the tariff so high that the Pennsylvania and the New England manufacturers would have a monopoly of the market, and could charge us for our clothing just what they pleased. Do you like it? And yet they say to you that you ought to vote for them. How much this bill, which covers 102 pages, will increase the tariff I cannot tell you. It is now tied up in the Senate. They were afraid to pass it in the Senate because they feared it would hurt them in this election. Do you think we ought to increase the protective tariff at this time? They tax cotton three cents; if they tax cotton why can't they tax your corn and your pork? When Congress yielded the point that raw material as it came from the earth could be taxed, they yielded up every thing so far as our interests in this agricultural section of the West are conforem and then so much a square yard.

cerned. But do you know how they tax wooien goods and cotton goods? Woolen goods they tax thirty-five per cent, upon its value, and fifty cents a pound in addition; and cotton goods they tax so much ad au-Well, you buy woolen goods that cost a dollar a yard, and that come from England or France, and you pay for it per pound, so far as it is taxed, precisely as much as the man that wears ten dollar broadcloth. That is what they call taxation for the people. Do they say that New England manufacturers need protection? Those manufacturers have made more money within the last four years than in any twenty years before. Gov. SPRAGUE, of Rhode Island, owns a cotton establishment which for several months cleared a profit of $17,000 a day. In re-

Making a speech, pansed in the midst of it, and exclaimed: "New, gentlemen, what do you think?" Instantly a man rose in the assembly, and, with one eye partially closed, modestly replied: "I think if you and I were to stump the country together, we would tell more lies than any other two men in the country sign."
